

Javier Sánchez González

Javier Sánchez González was born in Madrid in 1975 and graduated in Physical Sciences from the Autonomous University of Madrid in 1998. In 2004 he defended his thesis work at the Polytechnic University of Madrid. In 2007 Javier joined Philips as MR Clinical Scientist and in 2013 became on site scientist at the Spanish National Center for CV Research as part of the collaboration with Philips. Javier is currently leading the Philips Clinical Scientist team at South Western Europe.

Javier is expert in MR methodology including MR acquisition and image analysis in the field of abdominal and cardiovascular imaging. Javier is the author in more the 80 international peer reviewed articles and he has written 8 book chapters. Author of two international patents and is director of 4 thesis works...